The Hongkong Telegraph

HONGKONG, TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1882.

THE era of peace and concord which was so confidently anticipated from Mr. MARSH'S administration can hardly be said, even by his most enthusiastic admirers, to have as yet begun. One of Mr. MARSH'S first acts—an act eulogized by his adherents as commendatory of his chief, Governor HENNESSY—was the appointment of the Harbour Master to the civil Magisterial bench to succeed his complacent follower Dr. STEWART, but Captain THOMSETT'S unseemly behaviour towards his colleague the Coroner, which we recently chronicled, can hardly be held to establish the wisdom of Mr. MARSH'S choice. We cannot say that we are surprised at Captain THOMSETT'S conduct. In fact, we ventured to express an opinion that the contumacy displayed by the Administrator on his accession to office was a bad example and likely to prove contagious, and we leave it to the judgment of the public whether or not our opinion has been quickly verified. The contention between the two Magistrates, which the public enquiry into the death of an unfortunate sailor gave rise to, may be the means of attracting grave attention to the lax system which prevails in the colony regarding the protection of seamen, and more especially regarding the license allowed in the sale of poisonous liquors to seamen, which, we fear, is encouraged rather than checked by the existing state of affairs. The case of the unfortunate man whose sad death is now being enquired into is but another phase of the working of this odious traffic, which is a reproach to the Colony and which contributes only too surely towards such catastrophes as that we are engaged in considering. The Harbour Master's report published in last Saturday's Gazette reveals, one or two facts bearing on this subject, which we shall content ourselves to-day with referring to, in the endeavour to elicit further information on the subject. In the first place, we notice that during the year 1881 the number of seamen of all nationalities discharged in the Colony amounted to 7281, while 1,096 shipped during the same period were 6940, thus leaving 341 seamen unaccounted for, which Captain Thomssett explains by saying "The excess of discharges over men shipped is caused by the former leaving the Colony without notifying their departure." This may account for part of the discrepancy, but palpably, as the present enquiry proves, does not account for all. The next fact which strikes us is that a sum of $6940 was actually paid by seamen on being shipped, or a fee of $1 per head, which amount was paid into the Colonial Treasury. Now here was a large fund which we believe according to Imperial regulation is money collected from the sailor specially to provide for such contingencies as the one now being investigated, and we have yet to learn that the local ordinance permits the Colonial Treasury to appropriate the money of poor seamen, and then to allow this unfortunate class to be neglected and to suffer as they undoubtedly do. Another thing which should be put a stop to is that this Colony should be made the recipient of all the destitute seamen from the neighboring treaty ports. British Consuls, and if we mistake not Consuls of other nationalities, find it a convenient way of escaping from their difficulties in this respect to saddle these poor creatures on this Colony. This apparently they can do with impunity, and it was only a few days ago that one of our Shanghai contemporaries coolly advocated this as the natural and proper course to adopt to relieve that community of the trouble they suffer from a similar evil. Some provision to prevent this unfair imposition, with the exercise of a more rigid scrutiny in the discharge of seamen, will tend to lessen the evils which we complain of. The hollowness of the pretension that order and enlightenment signalized the different departments of this colony, and only needed Governor HENNESSY'S departure to give them full play, is being miserably exposed, and we can well understand the obstacles which met His Excellency in trying to introduce reform into such a mass. And it is a bitter reflection to find that it requires such fearful examples as that disclosed by BERRY'S suicide to awaken the Hongkong public from the fallacious dream they have so persistently indulged in.

In continuation of the annual inspection of the Buffs yesterday, Major-General Sargent, later in the day, examined the regimental and company books at the Orderly Room in Murray Barracks, and also inspected the buildings, workshops, barrack rooms, canteen, &c.; and this forenoon His Excellency and staff proceeded to Kowloon to witness independent firing by a portion of the regiment on the rifle range.

Two Celestial tailors, who were found this morning in the pursuit of a dishonest calling, instead of being at their work-board turning material into garments for their countrymen, were brought up before Captain Thomssett at the Police Court. A salt-trader was walking in Wing Lok-street, when the tailors went up close to him, one of them picking his pocket of two dollars, and dividing the spoils with his companion. The Magistrate sent them to six months' hard labour each.

SCARCELY had Leung Lin, a shopkeeper living in Queens Road West, the door of his shop opened this morning at 5.15, when an enterprising hawkler walked in and walked, or rather ran, off with his clock. The shopkeeper's cock, hearing a cry of "Thief," started in hot pursuit of the hawkler, who finding the chase a keen one, dropped the clock, hoping thereby to escape his pursuer, but from the frying pan, he would seem to have dropped into the fire, having rushed right into the arms of a constable, who incontinently walked the walker off with clocks to the Police station. The Magistrate, who thought he could also take a hand in the game of walk off, ordered the hawkler to be walked off for six months to Victoria Gaol, hard labour to be added as a reminder.

LAST evening, at the Temperance Hall, the members of the Royal Naval Temperance League and others from several ships of the Fleet held a farewell meeting, with the object, chiefly, of expressing their gratefulness for the very many means for their moral and spiritual welfare which Mr. D. R. Crawford had placed at their disposal. The gathering was presided over by Mr. Cuthbert of H.M.S. Curacao. After the usual opening service, Mr. Capper, of H.M.S. Erebus, read out an appropriate and well designed Address to Mr. Crawford, which was feelingly responded to. A hymn and a special prayer closed this touching gathering. Those present were fully aware that they were about to lose a friend, and they gave vent to their feelings accordingly. We gather from this meeting that Mr. Crawford's work amongst "Comfortless Jacks" has not been in vain. He carries with him the grateful wishes of all.—Communicated.

YESTERDAY evening Mr. C. L. Thevenin, desiring to become the temporary occupant of a public chair, called upon two chair coolies to do the needful, but the street obstructionists refused to carry him. He brought them up this morning before Captain Thomssett on the charge of refusing, when unemployed, to accept a fare. They pleaded that they had carried Mrs. Thevenin yesterday from the Hongkong Hotel to Morrison Hill, and that they received only a bad ten-cent piece for their trouble, for which they returned five good cents as change, not having discovered the intrinsic valuelessness of the ten-cent until afterwards, and that it was for this reason they declined to carry Mr. Thevenin. The Magistrate, knowing the simplicity and guilelessness of character which distinguish the Celestial chair bearers of this Colony, was, of course, duly impressed with the correctness of the tale told him, especially when Mr. Thevenin, upon being recalled, stated the defendants did not carry his wife at the time they mentioned, and proved the fact by firing the simple ones a dollar or three days' imprisonment.

UNITED Service Lodge, No. 1341 will meet this evening at the Freemason's Hall, Zetland-street, at 7.30 for 8 o'clock sharp. Visiting brethren are, as usual, cordially invited to attend.

THE Italian Opera Company perform this evening at the City Hall, Verdi's celebrated opera of "Rigoletto," for the benefit of signor Ciocci, commencing at 9 o'clock. As the opera is a very attractive one, and the primo barytone a great favourite, we anticipate a large audience.

THE Gazette publishes the average amount of bank notes in circulation in Hongkong, during the month of March; as under:—

	Amount
Bank of China	8,460,000
Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China	5,500,000
Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China	6,000,000
Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation	1,727,830
Total	21,687,830

THE competition for the handsome silver medal given by Col. Ike Austin, at his New American Rifle Range, at the United Club, Staunton street, came to a close on Saturday last. Yesterday evening the scores were compared, the winner of the medal being Mr. A. M. Apcar, who made the very respectable total of 118 out of a possible 120. The medal, which was manufactured by Mr. John Noble, is a very handsome one, and will no doubt be much prized by the champion shot of Hongkong. The gallant Colonel has decided on offering a handsome silver cup for competition, so that it is more than likely that Mr. Apcar's record may have, ere long, to take a "back seat." Mr. Howard, with 117 points to his credit, was a good second for the medal, the shooting throughout being of a high class description, many of the competitors getting within five points of the highest possible. For the forthcoming contest it has been suggested that any position be allowed. Full particulars will shortly be announced.

THE Canadian Blandin gave his fourth performance on the tight rope last evening. The unabated interest in the intrepid equilibrist's exhibition of his powers, was manifested by the attendance, which was as large, if not larger, than on any previous occasion; and we think, although the performance was announced as his farewell one, that the worthy imitator of his great prototype of Niagara Falls celebrity could not do better than give a few more repetitions of it to an admiring public, upon whose nervous system, relaxed by the enervating influence of a tropical climate, the sensational feats performed with a wonderfully buoyant and salutary effect; at least, we ourselves have experienced the benefit of it, and feel we can dispense with doctors and tonics for the remainder of the hot season. The presence of the Band of the Iron Duke lent an additional attraction to last night's performance, and we really think the able illustration of the laws of equilibrium should repeat it, with the added treat. To those who have not yet seen the daring performer on his tight rope, we would say, go, if there be yet another chance.

SAYS the Sportsman:—Americans seem particularly anxious to get to Europe as rapidly as possible, especially to Paris. Two schemes have been proposed to accomplish this end. In the first place, a bill has been introduced into the American Congress, authorising the Postmaster-General to establish a weekly mail steamship service between Fort Pond Bay, Long Island, and Milford Haven, capable of doing eighteen miles an hour. The compensation for the mail service is to be twelve thousand five hundred dollars a day if the trip is made within six days. Number two is a much more ambitious scheme. It is nothing less than a proposal to run from New York to Paris by rail in five days and a half, the journey to be broken only by two hours' sea passage. Mr. Gregory, the great railway promoter, is the author of this daring project. His line of route passes through Canada, New Georgia, and Alaska to Cape Prince of Wales, whence the passengers are to be conveyed by steamer to East Cape, on the opposite Asiatic coast of Behring's Straits. From East Cape the railway to be constructed will cross Russian territory in Northern Asia until it joins the Siberian railway system, already in direct connection, through Moscow and St. Petersburg, with all the European capitals. Persons going to Paris by this route would certainly have the advantage of a variety of scenery, though they would probably have had enough travelling by the time they reached the French capital.

A CORRESPONDENT who signs himself, "Another Mover in Good Society" writes to Truth on the subject of modern dancing as follows:—There have been several letters lately in various society papers, criticising the present modes of dancing, and I should be much obliged if you would kindly insert in your paper another opinion on the same subject. The writer of "Manners of Modern Society" says that the trois temps is considered the correct step, and that the valse should be danced with a slow, even movement. Another writer, who considers himself or herself competent to lay down the law, contradicts this, and says that in good society deux temps is thought the thing, and is the only recognised step; that a trois temps dancer is to be avoided, as chandelier dancing is such "bad form;" giving, more or less, as a reason, that the Prince of Wales always dances a rather quick deux temps. Now, why should the trois temps, which is by far the more quiet and graceful of the two steps, be considered bad style because the Prince of Wales and those who ape him choose to adopt that which is jerky and inelegant? Chandelier dancing, I cannot but agree, is very ugly, and to be avoided, but why class all trois temps dancers under the same head? Which is it most pleasant to see—a young lady (deux temps dancer) fly round the room to finish the dance, panting, heated, and bruised; with her dress fantastically torn, or to see one (a trois temps dancer) glide round (keeping in the general circle of dancers), ending the dance with her dress intact, and the dancer herself means unpleasantly heated by the exercise? Those who have seen both, and who possess an eye for the "poetry of motion," will, I am sure, agree with me in preferring the much and unjustly abused trois temps.

THE Legislative Council will meet on Thursday, the 20th instant, at 2.30 p.m.

THE Ocean Steamship Company's steamer Yasou, from London, for this port and Shanghai, left Singapore last Sunday morning.

WE are informed that the new British steamer Renus, Captain Watt, from Glasgow, left Singapore on Saturday last the 15th inst. for Hongkong.

THE Major General commanding will make his annual inspection of the Royal Artillery and Gun Lascars on Thursday morning, early, we believe, on the parade ground in rear of the Artillery Barracks.

As will be noticed from an advertisement in another place, the juryman and witnesses summoned to attend at the Supreme Court to-day, must be in attendance to-morrow, Wednesday, the 19th at 10 a.m. sharp.

CAPTAIN Hare of the Inniskillings, who has been attached to the Army Pay Department here some months, proceeds to Singapore by the outgoing mail steamer to rejoin his Regiment. We believe it was Captain Hare's intention to join the Pay Department permanently, but, upon further consideration, his own corps appeared to hold out better prospects.

A GUARD of Honor of the Buffs, with the usual accessories, will be at Murray Pier at seven o'clock to-morrow morning to pay the last official respects here to the late Commander of the troops, Lieutenant-General Donovan, who, with Mrs. Donovan, proceeds homeward by to-morrow's mail steamer. We wish the gallant general and his lady a safe and pleasant voyage home.

A NAVAL Court-Martial has been held at Devonport, for the trial of Lieut. Grant, commanding officer of the gunboat Banterer, and Lieut. Carden, navigating officer of that vessel, for negligently stranding her on the rocks off the coast of Galway, on December 23rd last. The Court found both prisoners, guilty, and adjudged them to be severely reprimanded, and dismissed from H.M.S. Banterer.

By latest telegraphic advices the steamer Mary Tatham which was reported yesterday as stranded off the coast of Yesso (Japan), is now reported to be a total loss. The crew and Chinese passengers to the number of 644 are reported to have been landed in safety, but we think this does not account for the total number of passengers who cleared with from this port, we await further particulars.

REFERRING to our remarks in the account of the annual inspection of the Buffs in yesterday's issue respecting complaints made by soldiers, we are very glad to be informed that a marked change has come over the spirit of military regulations in that respect in recent years, and that, although the power of punishing men for making what may be deemed frivolous or unfounded complaints has not been altogether withdrawn, there are, practically, but few instances in which it is now used. As a sincere well-wisher of the army, we are pleased to know that, if slowly, the military service of our country continues to advance with modern enlightenment and progress.

A CHINAMAN recently went into a Lendville faro bank and placed a paper of gold dust on the ace. The ace lost and the dealer, weighing the dust, found that it was worth about fifty dollars. He was about to throw the paper away when John asked for it, saying there were some "washee washee" accounts upon it which he required. The next night he returned and bet a similar paper. This time he won, and as the dust weighed forty dollars, the dealer proposed to pay him upon that basis. The heathen shook his head. "You payee all I bet," "Certainly," answered the dealer. Then John, carefully unwrapping the paper, showed hidden between its folds a hundred dollar bill. "He must have it," sighed the look-out man; "he's got us dead." The bank-note was there the night before, but the dealer had handed it back. That was his fault, however, not the Chinaman's.

NOWHERE, we venture to affirm, would it be possible to find such a merry company of funeral gentlemen professors as in London. There is something humorous in the expression of a humble mute's countenance as he stands at the door of the "fashionable funeral" after his libations round the corner. While the journey to the cemetery, too, is being performed, there is a grim jollity on the face of the coachman as he whips his horses into a gallop so as to be "in time," while the mournful gentlemen hanging on to the coach behind engage in a pleasant chat. Doubtless this arises from the fact that the men engaged spend their lives in attending funerals, and do not care a rush whether the party they have to bury be sinner or saint so long as the funeral baked meats and wine are of the best quality. Still, bad as London may be, we hardly gave it credit for producing such a marvellous sample of the funeral fraternity as Mr. George Fryer, coachman, aged 40. That gentleman made his appearance before Mr. Lushington at the Thames Police-court the other day on a charge of being drunk and incapable. According to the evidence of sergeant Nathan Lee, he was on duty the preceding morning, when he saw the defendant in Oxford-street, stepney, driving a pair of horses in a hearse. Defendant was singing merrily, and swaying about in his seat, whilst the hearse was going from one side of the road to the other. Witness stopped the horses, and then found that the defendant was very drunk. This hilarious merriment was very sorry for what had occurred, and would take the best of care that it should not happen again. He added that he had been driving twenty-five years, and such a thing had never occurred before. He had a "job" at Kensal Green; and afterwards he was "taking out coffins" to fill up his time, and he just had a drop "to keep his spirits up." It is his "job" at Kensal Green, was called upon to take out a cargo of coffins, would require a little "to keep up his spirits." Our spirits, we candidly admit, would, under the circumstances, have been at zero.

Two Tok-to-lum Celestial termagants had a scratching match there on the 14th, at which one, whose face and arms were badly nailed, would appear to have come off second best. She summoned the other, and upon Captain Thomssett devolved the delicate task of apportioning the blame between the two. In the face of the ladies' conflicting statements, the Magistrate adopted the sensible course of discharging the case.

THE Committee of Congress which is auditing the expenses connected with General Garfield's illness has determined to allow the physicians and nurses the following amounts:—Dr. Bliss $25,000, Dr. A. new $15,000, Dr. Hamilton $15,000, Dr. Reymann $10,000, Dr. Boynton $10,000, Mrs. Edson $5,000. Mr. Cump, steward of the White House, is allowed $3,000, and the other White House employees are to receive two months' extra pay. Surgeon-General Barnes is to be promoted to be Major-General on the retired list. Surgeon Woodward is to be promoted to be Lieutenant-Colonel. The Committee also grant Mrs. Garfield the remainder of the President's salary for the current year.

THEY sir Edward Watkin should regard with a lofty pity the "alarmist views" of Sir Garnet Wolseley about the Channel Tunnel is natural enough. But that he should expect Englishmen to be influenced by the sneer of his American friend who telegraphed to him, "What is poor old John afraid of now?" or by the opinion of the Républicain Française, which scouts the idea of employing the Tunnel for hostile purposes "as the most businesslike military undertaking of ancient or modern times," is to make too large a demand upon their simplicity. Foreign opinion is worth absolutely nothing on this question. Everybody knows that the Tunnel could be no danger to any other country, as England does not attempt to compete with her neighbours in military strength. No continental nation therefore risks anything by the project; it represents to them some possible gain, but no possible loss; to us if there is a gain, it is a gain of some slight convenience, if there is a risk, it is a risk of utter ruin. Count von Moltke is represented as saying that the Tunnel would be no danger to us if we took all the proper precautions—ironclad forts, strong enough to resist siege guns, to enfilade the entrance, mines to blow up the mouth, and a small body of troops under the strictest discipline permanently at the mouth of the Tunnel to guard against a surprise. If we are not blockheads, we are told, we must be able to checkmate an enemy attempting to use the tunnel. So we were assured that with the block system railway collisions were impossible; yet they do occur. And we prefer another saying of Count Moltke's which has been recently quoted. "I have five plans," the great strategist is reported to have said, "for invading England, but not one for getting out of it again." And we do not want to furnish an invader with a road, which might facilitate at all events his supplies, if not his escape. We are quite content, however, to wait for the result of the Government inquiry. Meanwhile the South-Eastern Railway Company has bored for 1,100 yards, and Dr. Siemens has lit up the "caverns under the sea" with the swan light; and when a mile has been pierced the company, Sir E. Watkin tells us, will take a larger pipe and go on to the middle of the Channel or further if necessary. This is only one of two competing projects, but supposing Government and Parliament decide against the scheme, we pity the people whose money is being put into the big hole.

THAT the receiver is worse than the thief, and that there would be no thieves were there no receivers, are sayings which have become trite from constant repetition, but they none the less express a truth to which it is unfortunately still needful to call attention in the hope that something may at last be done to diminish crime by striking directly at its root, instead of continually lopping off branches, only to see others spring up in their place. It is a notorious fact that out of the multitude of plate and jewellery robberies which are committed scarcely any are ever brought home to the perpetrators, for the simple reason that the booty is not many hours in possession of the thief before the precious stones are wrested from their settings, and the gold or silver is cast into the melting-pot, so that identification is rendered impossible. Most people, however, will, we should think, be surprised to learn from Mr. Bryce Wright that this illicit traffic is mainly in the hands of "some half-dozen receivers, who are as well known to the police as customers are to a tradesman." How is it, then, they are not arrested and punished? Because they are protected by law. No matter how strong the suspicion may be against them the police cannot enter their dens without a search warrant, which can only be granted by a magistrate within the hours of ordinary legal business; so that for about eighteen hours out of the twenty-four, that is from 4 p.m. to 10 a.m., Mr. Fagin can carry on his nefarious business and snap his fingers in the face of the detectives, who are morally certain of his misdoings, but who are so hampered by the restraints of the law that they can do nothing towards bringing him to justice. In the great majority of cases of housebreaking and burglary the thief gets clear away without being seen, so that the only chance of proving his guilt is by tracing the possession of the stolen property, and this, as we have pointed out, is made impossible by the absurd condition of the law. During last session an attempt to provide a remedy was made in the House of Lords by the Lord Chancellor, who introduced a Stolen Goods Bill, which, however, fell through after being read a second time and referred to a select Committee. It is to be hoped that this measure, or some modification of it, will be brought forward again during the coming session, and become the law of the land, despite the formidable opposition which it is said will be brought against it by pawnbrokers and other interested persons. It is distinctly in the interest of the community that we should make the disposal of stolen goods as difficult as possible, and thus by increasing the labour and trouble of the thief, and diminishing his chances of profit, teach him that the axiom, "Honesty is the best policy," is something more than a mere goody-goody copy-book precept.—Graphic.

TELEGRAMS for Bangkok can go forward by mail closing at Singapore at 5 p.m. to-morrow, the 19th, and 11 a.m. on the 20th instant.

THE Army Estimates for 1882-83 have been issued, and show that the net amount is £15,458,100, as against £15,541,300 for 1880-81 and £16,109,500 for 1881-82, the actual amount expended in the two last-mentioned financial years having been £15,067,863 and £16,039,143 respectively. As compared with 1881-82, the Estimates of 1882-83 show a net apparent decrease of £1,131,400, but a net real decrease of £563,000. The principal decreases are £1,065,500 in the special expenditure in South Africa, and £568,000 in extra receipts taken in aid of the votes. The principal increase is £247,000 in additional provision for naval guns and projectiles. The total number of men provided for is 132,905, as against 134,060 last year, a decrease of 1,155.

A FOUR-OARED race between a naval crew and a crew of the V. R. C. was pulled yesterday evening, the course being from the rock buoy to the west end of the bath house, a distance of seven furlongs. The two boats went off well together and kept bow and bow till within 50 yards of the winning post when sampson spurred and won by half a length. The naval crew looked a strong one, and rowed well and neatly, but they have not yet got into the proper swing for Canton Cutters. Time 5 min. 20 sec. with a tide running like a mill sluice. The Buffs' crew did not turn up. The names of the crews are appended:—

A COOLIE, his wife, a boiler-maker, and another Chinawoman, were charged this morning before Captain Thomssett, the men with breaking and entering the House of Wong Lin, wife of one Tong Asan, living in 68 Five-street, first floor, and stealing two boxes containing money, jewellery, and clothing, valued at $80, on the 17th instant, and the women with receiving some of the stolen property. One of the boxes was found empty in a house in which the male defendants were, who tried to run away, and the second box was found on the second floor of the house complainant lived in, in which were the two women charged with receiving. Evidence connecting the prisoners with the affair having been given, Inspector Thomson, in charge of the Western District, applied for a remand, on the ground that nearly the whole of the property was missing, and he wished to have an opportunity of finding it. The case was remanded till the 25th inst.

A VERY interesting match, distance one hundred yards, took place yesterday evening on the Cricket Ground between Mr. F. Hazeland, who won the 100 yards race at the Civilian Amateur sports held in March last, and Captain Newton, who won the open hundred and fifty yards at the Artillery sports last Saturday. Mr. Hazeland was credited with doing his hundred in 11.5th seconds and Captain Newton ran his hundred and fifty in a slide inside 19 seconds, winning very comfortably. Both performances were "clocked" by an experienced hand, and are nearly equal, allowing for the extra distance and the easy win of Captain Newton; consequently, a good race ought to have been the result of the match, but the contrary was the case, Hazeland taking the lead from the beginning and winning by about five yards, in, we are told, to 2.5th seconds. Our contemporaries both agree as to the time, and one of them comments on the improvement made by Hazeland since his appearance at the Civilian sports. With every deference to all concerned, including of course the official "clocker" of last evening, and our contemporaries sporting authorities, we give the time of the race of last evening as being the slightest shade over 10.4.5th seconds. The race was timed by a gentleman who knows more than a trifle about timing races, therefore we give the time as 10.4.5th seconds, which will no doubt satisfy Mr. Hazeland; Athletes in Hongkong who can do 100 yards in 11 seconds are, like angels' visits, extremely scarce.

THE Peking correspondent of the N. C. Daily News writing under date April 3rd observes:—We noticed the death of Mao Chang-hsi. His son is to be raised to the rank of a Yuen-wah (5th button) his grandson is to be made an M.A. (chijien) and the posthumous honour of Teacher to the Heir Apparent has been conferred upon him. His successor is Chang Chih-wan, the elder brother of the present Governor of Shansi, a native of Tientsin and formerly a Provincial Governor, but who retired some time ago on account of ill-health. This appointment will bring him to the surface again. Many officials when dissatisfied with their post, loss of post or want of rapid promotion, retire on the plea of ill-health; but as soon as they are offered higher appointments they emerge from their seclusion. In the Peking six Board, natives of Chihli can hold office, contrary to the rule that no man can hold office in his native province. The report that the Viceroy Li's brother is appointed to succeed Mao is therefore without foundation, although he may be called to the capital in some other capacity. In these days of rumours against his brother's progressive plans, it might be well for all parties to have a friend at Court. And although officially (for neither privately nor publicly is anything known here of the circumstances) it may be known that the Kaiping mines and the railroad may cause the death of the Western Empire, nobody seriously entertains any other idea but that both these black diamond excavations and the iron road of thirty li will be left to work out their destiny. Regarding the telegraph line it may probably prove a very expensive affair, in other words a commercial failure, and in the absence of Russian or European complication, its great advantages may not be highly appreciated; but China cannot and must not retrograde. Possibly this run upon the mines, the railroad, and the telegraph has some ulterior object in view. It will certainly depreciate shares, and then will be the time for speculators to take advantage.

Mr. MOORE begs to recommend his GOGO SHAMPOO WASH

to the public as unfitted by any preparation ever produced for promoting the growth of the hair. The basis of this compound is made of soap root, the natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; they are never found bald, and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By constantly using this shampoo Wash, as directed, you will NEVER BE BALD.

The proprietor offers the Wash to the public entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will without fail, prevent the hair from falling out, and cures all diseases of the scalp. It does not contain any poisonous drugs; its cooling properties it always the itching and fever of the scalp, which is the greatest cause of baldness.

Mr. MOORE has succeeded in being able to put this wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate.
